WHAT IS HALAL ?

Basically all food items are Halal, except those which are declared Haram as per Shariah (Islamic Law), including, pork, animals slaughtered improperly, ethanol and other intoxicants, carnivorous animals, blood, contaminated & hazardous food, any other Non-Halal ingredient or raw material, etc.

THE NEED FOR CERTIFICATION ?

The food industry has evolved from Organic to Processed Food, Freshly prepared to Frozen Food, Home Cooked to Fast Food and now Genetically Modified Foods...

This evolution necessitated innovative methods of Production, Canning, Freezing and Dehydrating techniques which led to the loss of Natural Flavors, Aromas, Colors and change in the Texture of food. This loss was supplemented by the addition of Flavorings; Aromas; Colorants; Emulsifiers; Stabilizers; Preservatives and numerous Additives.

IHC is proud to be the Pioneer to introduce the Muslim Friendly Hotel & Halal restaurant certification.

Due to possibility of these items containing Haram & Doubtful substances or combination of any critical & hidden ingredient, which may not be visible in the list of ingredients, there is a need for a competent Halal certifier to do research on the ingredients, additives & the raw materials and also conduct an Intensive production audit process. It start from receiving of Raw Material to dispatch of Finished Products, to trace and ensure that these products do not contain any Haram ingredients. This research & audit process, when completed successfully, entitles the product to obtain & display a Halal Logo, to ensure its consumers that the product is genuinely Halal, free from any Haram ingredient.
