JAM KAMAL KHAN Minister of Commerce

FoodAg Manufacturing: A Catalyst for Growth and Value Addition in Pakistan's Agriculture Sector

A warm welcome to all participants, exhibitors, and delegates at the FoodAg Manufacturing Exhibition. We are delighted to host this event in Lahore, a testament to our commitment to transforming Pakistan's agriculture sector. The Ministry of Commerce is dedicated to driving value addition in Pakistan's agriculture sector. This exhibition aligns perfectly with our vision of creating a sustainable and prosperous agricultural landscape. The Ministry encourages value addition in the agriculture sector by promoting agro-processing and packaging industries. This helps to increase the value and shelf life of agricultural products, making them more competitive in international markets. Ministry also supports the diversification of agricultural exports by encouraging the production and export of non-traditional crops and value-added agricultural products.

FoodAg Manufacturing provides a platform to showcase the immense potential of Pakistan's agriculture sector. We are blessed with fertile lands, abundant resources, and a skilled workforce. This event will connect businesses with opportunities for growth and collaboration. The Ministry of Commerce strongly emphasizes value addition in agriculture. We encourage businesses to invest in processing and packaging technologies to enhance the quality and marketability of our agricultural products. The Government of Pakistan is committed to supporting the agriculture sector through various initiatives. We provide incentives, facilitate market access, and promote research and development to drive innovation. I urge all participants to seize the opportunities presented at FoodAg Manufacturing. Let us work together to transform Pakistan's agriculture sector into a global powerhouse.

I have full confidence that this exhibition will be a resounding success. Together, we can unlock the full potential of Pakistan's agriculture sector and create a brighter future for our nation.

MESSAGE

FAIZ AHMAD Chief Executive, TDAP

FoodAg Manufacturing 2025: Showcasing Pakistan's Food Processing and Agricultural Potential

We have curated this event with a very specific goal in mind: to showcase solutions that directly contribute to the modernization and advancement of Pakistan's agricultural sector. We've worked diligently to ensure the participating companies represent the cutting edge of supply-side improvements in agriculture.

As you will see, we have a diverse range of exhibitors, both local and international, each offering unique contributions. Several international companies are showcasing advanced agro-processing machinery and technology solutions, including robotics and automation. These technologies are crucial for modernizing Pakistan's food manufacturing sector, enabling us to improve efficiency, enhance productivity, and compete effectively in the global market. Imagine the possibilities for increased output and reduced waste with the integration of these innovations.

Our participants from China, for example, offer not only automation equipment but also smart grid solutions. These are vital for optimizing energy use and improving the overall efficiency of food processing facilities, contributing to both cost savings and environmental sustainability.

Furthermore, we have companies specializing in innovative agritech solutions, such as organic fertilizers, organic compost, and hybrid seeds. These are essential for increasing agricultural productivity while simultaneously promoting sustainable farming practices – a crucial consideration for the long-term health of our agricultural sector.

A significant number of participating companies, both international and national, specialize in value-added food products. This perfectly aligns with Pakistan's strategic focus on moving beyond basic commodities and significantly increasing exports of higher-value processed foods. Companies like Royal JW Foods Pvt Ltd from China, with their expertise in buffalo breeding, embryo production, and milk processing, offer invaluable support for the development of Pakistan's dairy sector and the creation of high-value dairy products. This is a prime example of how international collaboration can benefit our local industries.

I am also particularly pleased to see so many Pakistani companies showcasing a wide range of value-added products, including dehydrated fruits and vegetables, spices, sauces, jams, and other processed food items. This demonstrates the growing capacity and dynamism of Pakistan's food manufacturing sector to diversify its product offerings and cater to evolving consumer demands. The presence of companies focusing on specific sub-sectors, such as olive production and date processing, highlights the potential for specialization and the development of niche markets within our food industry. This focus on niche markets allows us to capitalize on unique regional strengths and create a competitive edge.

Given Pakistan's strong position in the global halal food market, the presence of companies like AONE Halal Co. Ltd. and Noor Trading Co., Ltd., specializing in spices and halal food production, is particularly noteworthy. These companies play a vital role in strengthening our position in this important market segment.
